Prices

Tour prices quoted by Company are based on the euro which is the local currency of Greece. Any prices quoted by the Company in U.S. dollars are at the current exchange rate for that day based on rates listed at www.xe.com. The dollar cost of the tour is whatever the exchange rate is to the euro on the date you make a payment.

Deposits

An initial deposit of 400 euros per person is required to book a tour 90 days prior to the tour's departure date. Full payment is required if booking within the 90 day period. A 30% deposit is required for groups of eight or more. The balance of the tour cost is due 60 days prior to departure. Tours may be booked up to a year in advance.

Last Minute Bookings

Bookings made up to 15 days prior to the date of the tour may incur a discretionary 200 euro handling fee in addition to any possible increases in service prices (such as hotels). For last minute bookings the Company cannot guarantee the same hotels or services listed, advertised or usually patronized but the Company represents it makes best efforts to secure comparable rooms in comparable hotels.

Tour Changes by Client

The Client may choose another itinerary or trip date so long as there is hotel availability in an alternate itinerary or revised dates.

If Client transfers his/her booking to another party, a 100 euros handling fee is charged if more than 60 days prior to tour's starting date and 200 euros handling fee if less than 60 days before the tour's start date. The Client's payments will be transferred as a credit to the transferee, less applicable handling fees, rather than returned to the Client. The transferee is liable for any outstanding balance. Transferee becomes the Client and must sign this Agreement to ensure the trip transfer.

Tour Changes by Company

The Company will make all reasonable efforts to ensure that Client's tour proceeds as planned and represented. However, the Company reserves the right to make changes in the schedule or itinerary of a tour without incurring any refund obligations as a result of unexpected occurrences. Changes in tour services, including but not limited to hotels, itineraries, bicycle/hiking/sailing routes, third party sponsored events, modes of transport, or end destinations, may be altered at the Company's discretion, and this is particularly so when said changes are due to the weather, Acts of God, labor strikes or other external forces outside the Company's control that may affect the tour's schedule. The Client acknowledges that foreign travel and/or active travel requires a degree of flexibility and that unexpected changes may arise due to local circumstances. In the event external forces alter a tour the Company will make every possible effort to find alternate ways to maintain the itinerary.

Tour Cancellation by The Company

The Company reserves the right to cancel a tour up to 30 days prior to the tour date, including a confirmed tour.

In the event The Company cancels all or part of a tour, scheduled or otherwise, due to weather, Acts of God, labor strikes or any events which make it impossible or infeasible of the Company to continue any or all of its obligations within the tour, Client has the choice of joining another Company tour or going self-guided (adjustments made in cost). The Client may join the tour at any later point of the itinerary by using its own resources to re-join the tour. Such circumstances shall not constitute grounds for a refund. The Company urges Clients to procure travel insurance to cover such unforeseen events.

Self-Guided Tours

It is the Client's duty to maintain the self-guided itinerary as organized by the Company for the Client. If Client opts to change accommodations or make any changes to third party activities or services already organized and paid for by Company on behalf of the Client, such changes by Client shall not constitute grounds for a refund. During a scheduled tour, The Client accepts that the Company can reject the participation of any traveler who acts in an irresponsible, inappropriate or unlawful manner with no refund to the Client.

During a scheduled tour, The Client shall accept the authority of the Company's staff and group leader(s) at all times.
